VICEM INTRODUCES THE NEW VULCAN LINE

The Turkish ship yard Vicem announced its intention to broaden its range to superyachts back in 2008. Just a couple of years later, this yard already well known for its lobster and fisherman series built in mahogany has presented a new line of motor yachts in composites the Vulcan line. This new line comprises yachts from 30 metres upward designed with Dutch architect Frank Mulder. At this point in time the new range is made up of three models, 46, 35 and 32 metres built with Core-Cell and epoxy resins. In addition to Frank Mulder, Vicem Yachts has signed agreements with other important designer studios, namely Ken Freivokh, Wetzels Brown & Partners as well as Art-Line Design. Each one of the above mentioned are very much involved in developing the three new small ships from the Turkish ship yard.
